Ventinox is a welded seam, stainless steel flex system used for relining masonry chimneys. Made from 316 stainless steel, it features a welded seam, rather than a lock seam which results in the highest quality and longest lifetime of all the lightweight flex offerings and comes with a Lifetime Warranty.

The chimney sweep industry has a long history with Ventinox, and Lindemann Chimney Supply has been committed to this product line from its inception. With Lindemann's industry leadership and focus on service, your Ventinox needs will continue to be fulfilled without interruption.

Ventinox® - the professional's choice for over 30 years!
